PAOLA NAVONE

CHARISMATIC PIONEER. VIBRANT. ENLIGHTENED.
CONTINUOUSLY IN MOTION. POET. ORGANIC.
PASSIONATE TRAVELER. IN SEARCH OF THE
UNEXPECTED. CHAMPION OF THE HANDCRAFTS.
INTENTLY CURIOUS. AUTHENTIC. CITIZEN OF
THE WORLD. PAOLA NAVONE.

PAOLA NAVONE Since her early days with Studio Alchimia, Italian architect Paola Navone has sought to realize the unanticipated. Through the unique lens of expert architect, interior designer and art director, Navone beautifully re-imagines aspects of daily living via the merging of design, craftsmanship and technological innovation. A vibrant collaborator, she creates furnishings and objects that have transformed the decorative arts landscape.

Navone's extensive list of clients includes Abet Laminati, Armani Casa, Knoll International, Alessi, Piazza Sempione, Mondo, Driade, Orizzonti, Arcade, Oltrefrontiera, Casamilano, Antonangeli, Dada, Molteni, Natuzzi, Roche Bobois and Swarovski. She made history in 1983 as the first recipient of the prestigious Osaka International Design Award. Navone met Janice Feldman, CEO of JANUS et Cie, whose dear friend George Beylerian introduced them. The designers soon discovered they had similar tastes in style and sensibilities, both striving to create pieces that embody the spirit of exploration while evoking a respect for the past. "I have always admired the breadth of Paola's work and the way she combines sentimental, personal design with innovative product development and material diversity." Feldman reflects.

Navone, respectful of the earth and its resources, yet ever-curious in her search for unique forms and structures, took interest in the natural look and long life cycle of Feldman's signature synthetic materials. The collaboration resulted in two exclusive and expanding collections for JANUS et Cie: Dolce Vita and Strada, each highlighting Navone's celebrated skill in designing complementary furniture pieces within an ensemble.

In Paola Navone's eloquent words, "The furniture pieces become accomplices. They can simply stay together within different worlds, with other objects and in other houses with ease, for affinity and as a counterpart, in an ironic twist."

Paola Navone's inspiration for her JANUS et Cie collections stems from her connection to the Mediterranean and the South, where homes are designed to treat indoor and outdoor areas as a single space.

Woven from long-lasting JANUSfiber, the Strada collection's soft rounded forms, deco details and peaceful colors are suitable within an eclectic ensemble or as stand-alone pieces, indoors and out. The refined simplicity of Dolce Vita, crafted of 100% recyclable JANUSwood planks over powder coated aluminum frames, is a design trifecta of comfort, elegance and durability.
