

ELLE DECOR

WICKER FOREVER!

enter the
GOLDEN AGE

DESIGN FOR YOUR WAISTLINE

MAY 2018
ELLEDECOR.COM

INSIDE THE WORLD'S GREATEST DESIGN FAIR

In the entrance courtyard of a 1927 Spanish Colonial Revival house in Beverly Hills designed by Steven Johanknecht of Commune Design, the Janus et Cie wicker furniture has cushions in an Opuzen fabric, the root side table is from JF Chen, and the wrought-iron sconce and chandeliers are original to the house. The vintage blanket is Navajo, and the terra-cotta floor tiles are by Malibu Ceramic Works.

TEXT BY INGRID ABRAMOVITCH
PHOTOGRAPHY BY DOMINIQUE VORILLON
PRODUCED BY ROBERT RUFINO

WEST WORLD

On a Beverly Hills street with a star-studded past, Commune Design's Steven Johanknecht imbues a 1920s Spanish Colonial Revival with Hollywood glamour and Wild West motifs.