

WASHINGTON DC • MARYLAND • VIRGINIA

The Magazine of Architecture and Fine Interiors

HOME & DESIGN

DESIGNERS
at home

+ HOT TALENT

Young Pros to Watch

DC DESIGN HOUSE

Great Inspiration

◀ KITCHEN

KITCHEN KARMA The kitchen by J. Paul Lobkovich and Emily Neifeld combined rustic wood beams overhead with clean-lined custom cabinetry by Signature featuring inset doors that created a modern feel. The island, with its walnut base and legs, was “more like a big farmhouse table,” says Neifeld. Crisp, white cabinets were offset by a niche of walnut built-ins. Taj Mahal quartzite countertops and a Tatami mosaic-stone backsplash kept the space light and airy. Design: J. Paul Lobkovich, Emily Neifeld, Lobkovich Kitchen Designs.

▶ LOGGIA

NATURAL SANCTUARY With curtained borders and a wall of evergreen shrubs, the loggia “was meant to be a gathering spot with a sense of sanctuary,” says Nancy Colbert. A gray-washed teak sectional from JANUS et Cie and chairs from Lee Industries surrounded a custom, granite-topped table that doubled as a fire pit, while an Arteriors mirror provided a focal point. Punches of soft teal in the ceiling, Sunbrella upholstery and throw pillows added color and fun. Design: Nancy Colbert, NCIDQ, ASID, CID, Design Partners, LLC.

◀ FAMILY ROOM

GOING GREEN Iantha Carley envisioned “a family room that would be cozy for family use—respectful of country style, but with a modern eye.” She selected a large-format botanical pattern by Lee Jofa for the drapes, then took her cues for the room’s striking palette from its vivid greens. Benjamin Moore’s Dragonwell Green covered the walls, tempered by white trim and furniture upholstered in white indoor/outdoor Perennials fabric. The custom coffee table was fabricated by Michael James Furniture. Design: Iantha Carley, Iantha Carley Interiors.