

FEB 2016 / VOL 106 NO 2
US $7 CAN $9

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE MAGAZINE

THE MAGAZINE OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTS

ROCHE + ROCHE

Domestic calm for autistic adults

CROSBY SCHLESSINGER SMALLRIDGE

An airfield becomes a wetland

WHAT BIM IS MISSING

Landscape intuitiveness, for one thing

THE NATIONAL PARKS' FIX-IT LIST

Parsing an $11 billion backlog

RIO GROUP

In Tysons Corner, Virginia, the Rio Group of benches, designed by the Los Angeles-based, multi-disciplinary design firm Rios Clementi Hale Studios, attracts tired shoppers and references the area's orchard history with its orange color. Now available from JANUS et Cie in white, bronze, and metallic gray, the powder-coated aluminum benches come in seven styles—Backless, Curved Backless, Curved Backless Wide, Convex, Convex Wide, Concave, and Concave Wide—and can be combined in various ways. ●

FOR MORE INFORMATION VISIT
WWW.JANUSETCIE.COM.

