Right: The bar, which is lined with Janus et Cie stools, “becomes the center point of the whole entertainment section,” says architect Erik Peterson, who designed it to serve both the indoor great room and the main outdoor living terrace.

Opposite: A glass waterfall chandelier by Serip creates a dramatic focal point in the dining room, which overlooks sweeping desert views. The design team turned to Century Furniture for customized pieces such as chairs upholstered in a pearlized leather from Florida-based Barbarossa Leather and a dining table with a mélange finish.
