A major part of Urquiola's strategy was to revise space allocation, creating both individual and collaborative work areas (below) in the cavernous atrium and showcasing the offerings of various

Haworth brands in the process. Her own product designs feature prominently, including her Openest privacy desk and Plume panels for Haworth and the Bandas rugs she designed for GAN (opposite). In April 2016, the Poltrona Frau Group and Haworth acquired the outdoor-furniture company Janus et Cie, whose products are deployed in the outdoor spaces (bottom).
