Casting Call

If you're in need of a more refined table manner, a Malay cast concrete table from Restoration Hardware is a better purchase than etiquette lessons. The teak root replica marries art and function, and is cast from all-weather cement that's shockingly lightweight and utterly durable. Coated in a white-wood finish, this contemporary version of the teak original manages to pick up the texture of the natural wood via a unique multistep casting process that reproduces its unique markings—oh, and its enviable curvy figure. $895, 3030 Peachtree Road NW, restorationhardware.com

Shape Up

Designed by architects Michael Gabellini and Kimberly Sheppard, the Fibonacci Collection celebrates the curve. The six seating options, made of handwoven rattan and polished stainless steel, are designed to accommodate all forms of repose. Opt for the Anda lounge chair and ottoman, featuring a sculptural sweeping form that is as comfortable as it is chic. $2,862, JANUS et Cie, 349 Peachtree Hills Ave. NE, 404.855.3444, janusetcie.com

Fashion Meets Function

What are you seeing as the major trends in outdoor decor?

"This year we are very excited about the fashion-forward colors and patterns in fabrics. The Icon Collection from Sunbrella is a perfect example. When it comes to furniture, we are most excited about new sectionals that incorporate a table into the furniture."

Hang Time

After the launch of the high-style Swingrest lounge, we were waiting in suspense for what French-Romanian architect and Dedon design collaborator Daniel Pouzet would do next. Enter the SwingMe single-seat and the SwingUs double-seat evolutions of the suspended seaters. Featuring the same comfortable, wraparound backrest, both are also available in standing versions for those who wish for something a bit more grounded. Other customizations include an optional canopy (for the SwingMe) and a choice of suspension methods, allowing users to either rotate around in circles or swing back and forth. In other words, you can add your own spin. SwingMe, $2,150-$2,595; SwingUs, $2,830-$2,995, Kolo Collection, 1189 Howell Mill Road, 404.355.1717, kolocollection.com

Under Foot

As part of the new Bunny Williams collection for Dash & Albert, the Elizabeth rug features a classic pattern that has been updated for indoor/outdoor use. The eco-friendly rugs crafted by the iconic interior designer, who is known for her classic chicness, offer timeless styles in pleasing palettes, and both durability and washability. $130-$3,008, Peridot West, 1183 Howell Mill Road, 404.350.0330, simplyperidot.com

Keep it Glassy

The 1970s terrarium fad is back, but with a more modern sensibility. Restoration Hardware's version of displaying the outdoors inside comes in a repurposed antique chandelier. At first glance, this geodesic terrarium appears as if it were built around the graceful orchid it encapsulates. But how can that be? Dozens of triangular glass panes framed in zinc-finished aluminum and the absence of a visible opening forces guests to interrogate the object further—only adding to its mysterious appeal. $295, RH Atlanta, The Gallery at The Estate in Buckhead, 3030 Peachtree Road NW, 770.804.9040, restorationhardware.com

Game On

Restoration Hardware has partnered with L.A.-based artist James de Wulf to create a sleek outdoor tennis table that's perfect for summer. Made of cast concrete, the piece has an industrial aesthetic and can withstand most weather conditions with ease. Of course the James de Wulf outdoor tennis table isn't just for looks—its high-performance slab-top surface and full table-tennis kit make for a fun addition to any backyard. $8,995, RH Atlanta, The Gallery at The Estate in Buckhead, 3030 Peachtree Road NW, 770.804.9040, restorationhardware.com

In Good Taste

What are you seeing as the major trends in garden design?

"Flavorful plants are so hot—plants that can literally flavor our meals or be used as centerpieces too! Herbs, especially for muddling cocktails, are so chic!"

James T. Farmer III, author and designer, jamesfarmer.com

Table Topic

Opposites attract in the new Adelaide outdoor dining collection from BoConcept. With its curvy laminate seat and contrasting slanted wood legs, the Adelaide chair is durable yet elegant, as is the matching Adelaide dining table. The set is so chic, in fact, that it's perfectly suitable for indoor dining as well. $259-$2,059, boconcept.com

Net Effect

Conversations might turn deliciously devious in JANUS et Cie's new Dragnet lounge chair. This piece is fashioned from a powder-coated steel frame, with the showstopping red seat and back handwoven from hardy Sunbrella acrylic fabric. For those who like to spin their webs inside, the Dragnet is available in an indoor version as well. $5,753, JANUS et Cie, 349 Peachtree Hills Ave. NE, 404.855.3444, janusetcie.com
