1. Eco-Chic

2. Climbing the Walls

Made in the U.K., the Savuti wallcovering comes from Cole & Son for Lee Jofa. The colorway seen here is Dark Petrol Multi. | Lee Jofa, Boston Design Center, leejofa.com

3. Mix it Up

Italian fashion house Dolce & Gabbana has combined forces with Smeg for a new line of small appliances called Sicily is my Love. The mixer has ten variable speeds and a five-quart high-polished stainless-steel bowl. | Boston Appliance Company, Woburn, Mass., bostonappliance.net

4. Ottoman Empire

The Dinah ottoman by Jessica Charles is handmade in North Carolina. It's available in two new patterns, Brushstroke Spring (blue and green) and Bazaar Festival (orange paisley). | Cabot House, various New England locations, cabothouse.com

5. Sunday Funday

Summer was made for lounging on the Amalfi daybed featuring a stainless-steel frame and customizable cushions. | JANUS et Cie, Boston Design Center, janusetcie.com

6. Fantasy Forest

Tracy Glover Studio's Enchanted Forest objects are a collection of conceptual, handblown-glass tree formations that can be customized according to color, texture, and metal finishing. | Tracy Glover Studio, Pawtucket, R.I., tracygloverstudio.com
