circa-1850 Persian Kashan-Mohtasham rug hails from the Nazmiyal Collection in New York.

Old-world and modern blend seamlessly at the hardwood card table (lower right), which Horn designed in a contemporary shape and paired with her take on an antique European chair. For the loggia's ceiling (upper right), Jeannette chose cedar grape stakes for their color and weathered look, but also because of their durability and bug resistance. The sofa is by Janus et Cie, the side tables by John Dickinson for Sutherland Furniture.
